Cellular Relaxation/ Cellular Respiration

Cellular relaxation is a prerequisite for effective cellular respiration.

Wellpro.one has combined scientific evidence with ancient wisdom where we have used a humming technique to naturally increase the production of Nitric oxide in the sinuses by 2000 times.

'NO' was awarded as the molecule of the year in 1992

Due to the higher metabolic rate, activation of soleus muscle required a much higher amount of oxygen.

Dr. Hamilton fulfilled this by giving oxygen artificially which was a major roadblock in rolling out the program.

Wellpro.one has overcome this challenge by combining soleus activation with cellular respiration & cellular relaxation.
